

ESPN's Brian Kenny, Yale's Dr. Robert Sherwin Featured at Diabetes Awareness Breakfast

Central Connecticut State University
Sunday, March 21, 8:30 – 11:30 a.m.

Ever since Helen Keller asked Lions International to become Knights of the Blind, Lions worldwide have contributed time, money, expertise and energy to eradicate blindness. Now we face the greater challenge of diabetes awareness and eradication. On Sunday, March 21, we will learn what Lions can do to fight this dread disease.

Brian Kenny, anchor of ESPN's SportsCenter, will discuss his daughter's diabetes and his efforts to raise awareness and funds to find a cure. Dr. Robert S. Sherwin, Director of the Diabetes Endocrinology Research Center and the JDRF Center for the Study of Hypoglycemia at Yale, will bring us to the forefront of diabetes research, describing the breakthrough artificial pancreas device and the great work his researchers are doing to stop this disease.

As Lions, we can move the mountain of public indifference to diabetes and change the conversation about healthy life styles and obesity that can save the lives of 57 million Americans at risk for Type 2 diabetes today. We can also help end the suffering of millions of children who suffer daily from Type 1 diabetes.

Let's bring as many members as possible to the Lions Diabetes Awareness breakfast on March 21, and bring your club's contributions to this urgent cause.

Yours in Lionism,

Bob Bessel
Diabetes Awareness
MD23B

Join the Fight to Stop Diabetes

Lions Diabetes Awareness Breakfast
Central Connecticut State University
Sunday, March 21, 2010
8:30 - 11:00 a.m.

Yes, I will attend the Lions Diabetes Awareness Breakfast on Sunday, March 21, in the Constitution Room at CCSU's Memorial Hall!

Name _____

Club _____

Cost is $15.00 per person. Please make your check payable to District 23-B and return by March 11 to:

Lion Bob Bessel
District 23-B
4 South Street
Canton, CT 06019-3162

Directions?

A map is provided on the back of the letter. Free parking is available in the Student Center Garage.

Donations?

Please ask your club to make a donation to JDRF (Juvenile Diabetes Research Fund) or ADA (American Diabetes Association).

Other Questions?

Please contact me at 860.693.0583 or at rbessel@yahoo.com.

We have a great line-up of speakers and information to get your club involved with Diabetes Awareness. Please make a special effort to attend!
